

ISSUE NO. 1

AUGUST 2023

shine

INTERIOR DESIGN STUDIO

LOOK BOOK

find your inspiration

WWW.SHINEIDSTUDIO.COM

A Note from the Owners

We spend much of our time as designers cheering our clients through the process. Unless you have time for it to be your full-time job, it can be overwhelming to try to figure out how to get your project off the pinterest boards and into a reality while juggling the every day realities of careers and life. That's where hiring an Interior Designer comes in.

Whether it is a dream for your business, your home, new construction, or historic renovation, our team is trained to help you form a plan to make those dreams tangible.

Our awesome team is equipped to handle your project - each team member has a special skillset and background that will help your project become a reality.

Check out some of the tools in our designer's toolbox that the Shine team uses throughout your project to take the stress out of the process.

Stacey & Natatie

PHOTOS BY RHETT PEEK PHOTOGRAPHY
STYLING BY AT HOME IN ARKANSAS

Getting Ready for Install Day

We are nearing the finish line for your project: we've drawn the plans, made the decisions, executed the design. It's time for those final touches! Installation day is such an exciting time to see your project transformed into the space you have dreamed of. It's a fun step in the process, but it can be overwhelming as we work with you to navigate scheduling, installation, and bringing the dream to life. But don't worry, we are here to make the process easier for you.

set the stage: what to expect

Installation Day tends to be a busy day with a lot of moving parts! We are no stranger to the chaos; we are your experts and will direct the various trades that make up the installation team. We provide plans and verbal instruction so your furniture, rugs, and accessories land in the right place.

Are you curious about your role on this day? We work fastest and most efficiently with a kick-off client meeting, then proceeding the rest of the day with the freedom to move about your space and tackle each item on our task list. We love to reveal the final product at the end!

Heather Kramer
Interior Designer

all the little details

Not only will we direct traffic for any trades involved, but you will also find us hanging artwork and styling your space with accessories. We specialize in the little details and making the space work together as a whole.

Finally, we will add the finishing touches with furniture pads and rug pads. Our goal is for your space to have a clean and polished look when we are finished on this day. Not only aesthetically, but functionally as well. Now, sit back and enjoy all of our weeks (or months) of dreaming come to fruition.

PHOTOS BY RHETT PEEK PHOTOGRAPHY
STYLING BY AT HOME IN ARKANSAS

SHINE INTERIOR DESIGN STUDIO | PROJECT FEATURE

Did you Know?

Grab bars can be both functional and attractive! Can you spot the grab bars in this bathroom?

PHOTOS BY RHETT PEEK PHOTOGRAPHY
STYLING BY AT HOME IN ARKANSAS

ASHLEY FIANT, IIDA, LEED-AP
Senior Interior Designer

Thinking About the Future

As Interior Designers, we continue to learn about the world around us and how people are living in their built environments. Not only do we think about the places we are creating for the versions of ourselves today, but we also think about the days ahead. What does it look like to age in place? What does a facility require to best care for its residents who are facing the changes that come as they advance in years?

aging in place

Many choose to continue to live in the home they love while they embark upon the later years of life. Our job as interior designers is to work with our clients to consider: Do you have an available accessible path that would allow a wheelchair to pass through your home? Do you have adequate lighting to illuminate your tasks and pathways? Do the colors in your home support your aging eyes? Do you have grab bars and a zero clearance shower for ease of transfer?

senior living

Similarly, we work with our commercial clients who are planning residential facilities for senior living. In addition to accessibility, appropriate lighting, and a supportive color palette, we work to ensure the facility is built to work hard, providing a safe environment for its residents. The floor coverings are designed to consider the aging eye's depth perception, the aesthetics are curated to invoke a sense of home, while the furnishings are built to support the ergonomics of its residents.

In 2020, Shine ID Studio embarked on our first healthy home. Combining approaches learned through our design training, LEED certifications, and additional research, we've created an approach to building a Healthy Home in a creative and strategic way.

Architects and Interior Designers can identify areas that will optimize health and wellness.

Review plans for function and adjacencies.

Garages, and functional areas might introduce contaminants to the home.

Consider storage and accessibility.

Lighting and Windows have a dramatic effect on health and wellness.

And it's more than just adding lots of windows. Glare can be challenging as homeowners age and sometimes light patterns can affect sensory perceptions.

Adaptability is key when thinking long term in health and wellness matters.

We work to consider counter heights, pathway clearances, and features that provide flexibility if health needs change over time.

Rustic beams at the ceiling carry the warm, textured aesthetic of this dining room to create a space for the homeowners to enjoy dining and entertaining guests.

PHOTOS BY RHETT PEEK PHOTOGRAPHY
STYLING BY AT HOME IN ARKANSAS

PHOTOS BY RHETT PEEK PHOTOGRAPHY
STYLING BY AT HOME IN ARKANSAS

SHINE INTERIOR DESIGN STUDIO | HEALTHY HOME |

PHOTOS BY RHETT PEEK PHOTOGRAPHY
STYLING BY AT HOME IN ARKANSAS

PROJECT PROFILE

IMPERIAL VALLEY KITCHEN RENOVATION

This family was spending more and more time at home together cooking their meals. We worked with the client to identify their main goals for this project: in this case, better kitchen storage, food prep space, and entertaining space.

In this exploration, we discovered several underutilized spaces that allowed us to move the kitchen, taking better advantage of the available interior footprint.

Our role as designers always starts with function, health and safety. Once we address those needs, we can move onto how we want the space to feel... in this case, it was clean, bright and classic. White quartz countertops, polished chrome lighting and plumbing fixtures, timeless shapes and trim with millwork and tile designs combined to create the classic aesthetic this family envisioned.

from our clients...

"Shine helped us with our remodel project for our kitchen, dining room, pantry, living area.

We trusted their judgment on everything from layout, tile selection, hardware selection, backsplash, marble flooring and cabinets. We love our new space and constantly receive compliments from friends and neighbors.

Highly recommend!"

We love our new space!

PHOTOS BY REBECCA PECK PHOTOGRAPHY
STYLING BY AT HOME IN ARKANSAS

SHINE INTERIOR DESIGN STUDIO | PROJECT FEATURE

Kitchen Design Concept, Alternate

BACKSPLASH

COUNTER TOPS

FLOORS

TRIM

ACCENT

BUTLER'S PANTRY & PANTRY FLOORS

BUTLER'S PANTRY BACKSPLASH

RUG CONCEPT

LIGHTING CONCEPTS

ISLAND OPTION

PREP SINK MAIN SINK

BARSTOOL

WORK IN PROGRESS

Legacy New Construction Project

Our client came to us with a set of architectural plans, seeking guidance on how to make this new construction project the home they imagined. We worked with them to identify various functions, adjacencies, and necessities that should be achieved in their final set of plans.

With a unique location near a college campus, this family sought to create open, warm spaces that will be ideal for hosting gatherings. Not only the spatial configuration of each room, but the furnishings have to stand up to regular use by this family of 5 plus a regular presence of guests.

The kitchen, in particular, was a great space to select and place materials that feel like home to this family. The warm cabinetry is balanced by full walls of light, textural backsplash tile, in addition to the leaded glass windows flanking the main sink; each detail was considered to bring this family's personality into their new home currently under construction.

PERSPECTIVE RENDERING

from our clients...

"Natalie and everyone at Shine helped us design our new build. They created space for everything we wanted plus additional features we hadn't thought of. Their work is ...

absolutely beautiful."

QUESTION + ANSWER

Hiring a Designer

Q: WHEN SHOULD I HIRE A DESIGNER?

A: The earlier in a project, the better. For construction projects, we can anticipate needs early in the project and guide decisions that will impact the final result.

If you've made it through the construction process, and need help crossing the finish line and furnishing a space, we're happy to help complete a space.

Q: WHAT DOES FULL SERVICE INTERIOR DESIGN MEAN?

A: Start to finish, trust the experts. We consider full service to include new construction, large scale renovations, or multiple rooms complete with furnishings, wall and floor coverings, lighting, art and décor.

Q: DO YOU WORK WITH ANY BUILDER OR ARCHITECT?

A: Yes! And we love working in teams, especially when we can truly serve you as the design expert!

Q: WHAT WOULD BE HELPFUL TO KNOW BEFORE I GET STARTED?

A: You can find information all about our design process on our website: www.shineidstudio.com/process

Stacey Breezeel, ASID | LEED-AP

Partner + Lead Designer

"The end result is a kitchen that provides a beautiful backdrop for memorable meals and experiences for the homeowner and their extended family and friends. It is always our biggest joy to see a kitchen space being used and enjoyed!"

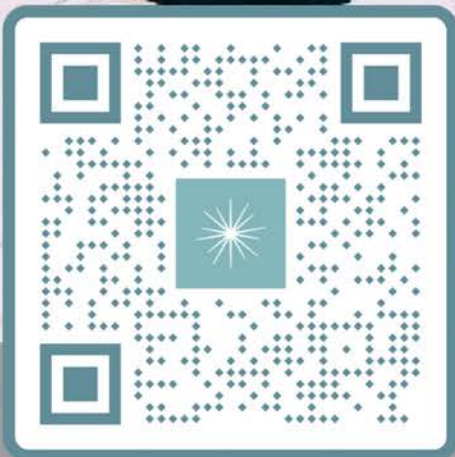

Natalie Biles, ASID

Partner + Lead Designer

shine

INTERIOR DESIGN STUDIO

PO BOX 409
LONOKE, ARKANSAS 72086

Let's make your interior design project shine.

We're excited to help you design a healthy and happy space! Book a consultation with us to get started on your interior design project.

☎ (501) 777-5373

✉ info@shineidstudio.com

WWW.SHINEIDSTUDIO.COM